Rev. Dr. Dolly, of the Southern Methodist Episcopal Church, of Leesburg, Va., has been made.

Miss Ida Hamilton Trotter was married to Second Lieut. L. C. Covell, U. S. Revenue Cutter Service, Thursday evening, in the parsonage of Trinity Methodist Church, in Washington, the service being performed by the Rev. Henry S. France, pastor of the church. The wedding was quiet, and was attended only by the immediate families of the bride and bridegroom.

Miss Edith Frost was bridesmaid, and First Lieut. F. C. Billard, was best man. Lieutenant and Mrs. Covell left Washington for Philadelphia, from which port they will sail today on the steamer Havford, for Liverpool, to travel six weeks in England and France.

The engagement is announced of Miss Jean Graham Troxel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Troxel, of Highland Park, to Capt. Dwight W. Ryther, Sixth Infantry, United States Army, now stationed at Fort Harrison, Montana.

Miss Addie Luella McInturf, daughter of George F. McInturf, formerly of Tennessee, was married to Arthur Douglas Cutts, of Washington, on Tuesday, March 17, in the home of the bride's father.

Mr. Cutts is a son of the late Col. and Mrs. J. Madison Cutts. The wedding was very quiet, only the immediate relatives and a few friends witnessing the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. J. J. Muir.

The couple entered the drawing room, unattended, as the wedding march from "Tannhauser" was played by Mrs. G. E. Tralles, a cousin of the bridegroom. The drawing room was beautifully decorated with palms and blooming plants.

The bride wore a becoming gown of lace over silk, made empire style, and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley.

Immediately following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Cutts left for a short wedding trip, the bride wearing a traveling suit of brown chiffon cloth and a brown hat.

Mr. and Mrs. Cutts will make their home in Falls Church, where Mr. Cutts has recently erected a bungalow.

Matrimony and Divorces Keep Four Hundred Going During Lent in New York

NEW YORK, March 28.—Matrimonial projects and divorces are engaging to the attention of the interest of society just at present. Wherever the woman of the Four Hundred together, be it at Sherry's for luncheon or at the Plaza and the St. Regis for afternoon tea and music, the all-sorcery of society of discussion, consist of the alleged engagement of the royal Italian Duke of the Abruzzi to Miss Katherine Elkins, the ardent suit of the Prince de Sagan for the hand of Anna Gould, former Countess de Castellane, and the rumored separation of the Duke and Duchess. In each instance nothing definite is known, which, of course, gives free rein to speculation and sets every tongue a-wagging.

With regard to the Alfred Vanderbilts, it has been a matter of gossip for some time past that Alfred and his wife were not at all interested in each other and that they were accustomed to each go their own way. It was also known that Alfred proposed to spend the greater part of the summer abroad, having leased for a long term one of the fine flats in the so-called Duven apartment house, at the corner of Park Lane, in London, which occupies the site of Gloucester House, so long the home of the late Duke of Cambridge, and previous to that the town residence of his aunt, the royal Duchess of Gloucester.

It was likewise no secret that Mrs. Alfred intended to remain in this country throughout the summer. But it was believed that she would divide her time as usual between Sagamore Lodge, her place in the Adirondacks, and Oakland Farm, which since her marriage has been her principal home, and of which she was understood to be very fond. All her interests and activities in the place; she was identified with all sorts of local charities and undertakings, and her removal of many of her principal belongings to Tuxedo indicates that her absence will be of a long duration, and the severance for a time at any rate of her with Newport, where she has become a very popular figure.

While some people side with the husband and imply that he would have been happier with his wife if there had been less interference on the part of his somewhat masterful mother-in-law, old Mrs. French, it must be confessed that the sympathies of the greater portion of society are with Mrs. Alfred. Even her husband's relatives seem to have espoused her cause, and at the wedding of Gladys Vanderbilt to Count Schenck, she was the principal supporter of Mrs. Vanderbilt, sr., who deputized for her many of the duties of mistress of the house. Moreover, both the bride and her mother insisted that it should be at the altar rather than at Alfred, although the latter had been designated in his father's will as the chief of the family.

Of course, the Vanderbilts and the Frenches are greatly distressed about the entire affair, and especially by the newspaper publicity, which could easily have been set at rest if at the very outset the respective families had taken the trouble to explain that in view of the extensive building operations and alterations in the grounds, which are about to be undertaken at Oakland farm during Alfred Vanderbilt's absence abroad until the fall, Mrs. Vanderbilt preferred to live at Tuxedo, where her brother had placed his villa at her disposal, and that the fact that the villa was only partly furnished rendered necessary the conveyance from Newport to Tuxedo of several vanloads of furniture. This statement, made at the beginning of the week, would have been accepted as a satisfactory explanation, and would have set at rest much of the talk which has taken place about the matter.

With regard to last year's coaching parade mentioned above, the members of the New York Coaching Club met last Friday to arrange for its annual parade next month in Central Park, under the direction of its veteran president, Col. William Jay. Several fa-

Anacostia Falls Church METHODIST CHURCH HOLDS CONFERENCE

Resolutions of Regret Presented to Retiring Pastor.

The last meeting of the official board of the Anacostia Methodist Episcopal Church for the present conference year was held Monday evening. The meeting was presided over by the Rev. Charles O. Isaac, pastor of Anacostia Church, Arthur B. Sult, the recording steward, made his report, covering financial conditions in detail.

What was regarded as the most important business before the conference was the presentation to Mr. Isaac of a set of resolutions from the officials of the church, in praise of his efforts in behalf of the congregation during the eleven years he has occupied the position as pastor, extending to him the thanks of the board for his services and expressing to him deep regret that he has deemed it necessary to sever his connection with Anacostia Church.

It was stated in the resolutions that the board requests the bishop to appoint Mr. Isaac to a field commission with his standing and the grade of his work at Anacostia Church. The committee presenting the resolutions, which were unanimously adopted by a rising vote, was composed of Arthur B. Sult, John E. Fort, and George O. Walton.

The committee of the board named to recommend to the conference authorities a pastor to succeed Mr. Isaac, consists of Arthur B. Sult, chairman; George O. Walton, Charles F. Linger, J. T. Simpson and Samuel R. Campbell. The committee has several clergymen in view, but it is not expected that any announcement of a choice will be made until the meeting of the annual conference, in this city, next month.

A musical entertainment was given last night in the ball room of the New Willard for the benefit of the Bell Home for Children, on Franklin street at which there was a large and fashionable audience present. The list of patronesses included a number of the most prominent women in the society of the National Capital.

Those who participated in the entertainment were Mrs. D. Olin Leach, contralto; Mrs. Charles G. Bennett, soprano; Miss Edith Sessions, soprano; Philip Lee Scantling, tenor; Roswell E. Boothby, soprano; Milton W. Lusk, pianist; S. Anthony Savage, violinist, and Miss Jean Wilson, reader. Miss Adelaide Slack and S. Anthony Savage were the accompanists.

Improvements are about to be made in a section of Anacostia where there has been but comparatively little building, but in which efforts at development are to be put forth and to which the town proper, it is hoped, will soon extend. This is the district between Harrison street and Minnesota avenue. George S. King, representing several business men has begun the erection on Seventeenth street, two frame dwellings, each to contain six rooms, with bath and laundry. The approximate cost of each is $12,000. When these are completed it is the intention to begin the erection of four others.

The Willing Workers' class of the Garden Memorial Presbyterian Church held its first quarterly meeting in the edifice on Minnesota avenue Friday evening last. Mrs. J. H. Easter, the president, was in the chair. A history of the organization was read by Mrs. Charles Entwistle, the secretary, and Mrs. Mack Hoopes, the treasurer, submitted her report.

An entertainment followed, those taking part being Mrs. George Thompson, piano solo; Charles Snel, reciting; Mrs. Hoopes, vocal solo; Miss Annie Butler, reciting; George Thompson, piano solo; Mrs. Thompson, piano; William Smith, violin solo.

During the meeting it was made known that the members of the class intend to undertake the work of procuring a new carpet for the church, as well as to cause the building to be frescoed and improved.

The two-act comedy, "Mr. Bob," given by performers from the school of Messrs. Siltman and DeFord of Washington was witnessed by a large gathering Friday evening last in the assembly of St. Elizabeth's Asylum for the insane. Those in the cast were James W. Painter, Charles A. Johnson, Harry Burns, Carolyn Griffith, Eleanor Kennedy, Nellie LeCain, and Elsie Rizer.

The ladies representing the Garden Memorial Church, on the board of managers of the Presbyterian Home of the District, met last Saturday evening at the residence of Mrs. Alexander B. Garden. Following the business session refreshments were served.

ACTING THE PART.

The curtain had just gone down on the second act, leaving the heroine in the villain's clutches. Up in the balcony a sentimental woman burst into tears, says the Bohemian.

"Don't cry, dear," said her husband. "Remember, it's only a play. Act like a man!"

"Very well, John," said the lady, smiling through her tears. "You'll excuse me for a moment, won't you? I must run out and send a telegram."

WARNING TO PARENTS.

The Milk Conference appointed by the District Commissioners, in view of the MANY DANGERS OF RAW MILK, has recommended the home-pasteurizing of all raw milk by bringing it to the boiling point, then withdrawing, cool, and keep cold until used.

The Conference has thereby endorsed the advice given by this Society for a number of years to for children.

Parents are particularly warned against the erroneous opinion held by some that pasteurizing affects either the digestibility or the nutritive value of the milk, or that as a rule it will produce any bad effects whatsoever.

How to Get Well for 50 cents — in a Month

This is the trouble with nine people in ten who don't feel well:

The liver is torpid because of abuse. Because of wrong food and too little exercise.

The bowels have grown inactive. The waste of the system loads the blood with impurities.

Then one takes harsh physic—salts and pills—in trying to correct the wrong.

Thus the stomach and bowels become inflamed. The whole digestive system is upset.

All these results end quickly by the use of Cascarets.

One candy tablet, once or twice a day. In a month, or less, one knows what it is to be well.

Cascarets aid digestion. Harsh physic destroys it.

Cascarets gently stimulate the liver. Cathartics whip it to action.

Cascarets heal the bowels. Pills, salts and castor oil merely irritate.

If you tramped the woods for a month, ate coarse food, fruit and green vegetables, the result would be the same as a month with Cascarets.

But most people can't do that. For them, Cascarets bring the same results, just as naturally, just as effectively.

Cascarets are candy tablets. They are sold by all druggists, but never in bulk. Be sure to get the genuine, with CCC on every tablet. The box is marked like this:

THEY WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP.

The vest-pocket box is 10 cents. The multi-treatment box 50 cents. 12,000,000 boxes sold annually.
